As a graduate of Stevens Institute of Technology with a Bachelor of Engineering degree where he studied energy & quantum physics, a former monk and NOW inspirational speaker, Greg's passion is to have six billion people know their Heart Virtue™. Greg spent more than 15,000 hours in silent meditation during his eight years as a monk. During that time, he studied the lives of heroes and discovered there were three main skills they all possessed that allowed them to make powerful contributions to humanity.

Greg shares these three main skills with his audiences by using accelerated spiritual and psychological evolutionary insights while training people to master their own hero within. He receives endless testimonies from participants who have gained clarity and confidence in discovering their purpose, then making a powerful contribution to humanity.

At the foundation of Greg's workshops, he helps you identify your very own Heart Virtue™ (like a unique fingerprint) that may have been hidden in a blind spot. This allows each person to take a stand for what they believe in and experience more authentic, lasting fulfillment. Greg has trained entrepreneurs, psychologists, ministers, Olympic Gold Medalists, and Academy & Emmy award-winning celebrities who were at the top of their game asking themselves "what next!?"
